

From Disney's beautiful Grand Floridian Resort and Spa at Walt Disney World Resort in Lake Buena Vista, Florida – a batch of seven bakers competed for Hasbro's Easy Bake 2009 "Baker of the Year." The finalists ranged from 8 to 12 years old and spanned from the states of Washington to New Jersey. Each contestant had their mom or dad as their sous chef.

The competition heated up early when 9 year old Drew Adams from Elizabeth, West Va., started baking his specialty "Strawberry PB&J" cake. His 12- year old sister Elizabeth had the judges going topsy turvey with her fruity " Easy Pineapple Upside-Down Cake."

Ten-year old MaCall Prengel from Olympia, Washington prepared "S'mores Snacks/Chocolate Peanut Butter" had everyone asking for s'more. It was "love at first bite" when 12-year old Catherine Ralston from New Albany, Ohio prepared her mouth-watering "Queen of Hearts Strawberry Tart."

Portland, Connecticut native 8-year old Morgan Sartor (the youngest baker) had the judges going nuts over her mouth-watering "Chocolate Peanut Butter Blitz."

Eleven year old Taylor Spallanzani a resident of Morganville, NJ had an eye opener of a recipe for her "Pumpkin Surprise."

Hannah Toomey an 11 year old aspiring baker from Allentown, Pennsylvania – baked a berry sweet "Chocolate Raspberry Cake" utilizing Easy-Bake devils food cake mix.

It wasn't a piece of cake for the judges who went goofy when they chose Catherine Ralston who was crowned "Easy-Bake 2009 Baker of the Year."
